The Artiwood Story

About Us

Eco-friendly since 1999

Artiwood Australia has been sourcing and supplying quality, imaginative and playful educational toys since 1999.

Our business began as the personal passion of its founder, John Daniels. For many years he helped small family-owned manufacturers in rural Sri Lanka take their products to market.

The same commitment to high-quality, ethically sourced, safe and creative products remains at the heart of our business more than two decades later. This means we're:

- Committed to sourcing safe, eco-friendly, premium quality toys that are ethically and sustainably made.
- Focused on delivering world-class customer service with a boutique flair; a focus that saw us voted Toy Supplier of the Year in 2016 and one of Australia's Hot 100 Wholesalers in 2023.
- Passionate about finding and promoting toys that truly spark the imagination. This includes toys voted product of the year in 2016, 2017, 2020 and 2021.
- Dedicated to supporting entrepreneurial Australian companies like Kidstart and The Freckled Frog.

As our third decade begins, we're growing our eco-friendly credentials with new products for active play from Kinderfeets, bioplastic toys from Tolo, and sustainably made educational games for people of all ages from Ludic.

Every brand we proudly distribute designs and manufactures its unique, safe and eco-friendly toys using sustainable or organic materials with a focus on fun, learning and exploration.

This means our toys have a positive impact all the way back to their community of origin. Order from us safe in the knowledge that you're contributing to a greener, brighter future for our planet and its people.

Affordable sustainability

Modern manufacturing has made sustainable, eco-friendly products increasingly hard to find. However, in a world inundated by plastic Artiwood believes there's still room for a few eco-friendly alternatives.

Every year we search the world for toys that reflect our philosophy at an affordable price. Very few manufacturers make the cut. As a result, the toys we offer provide endless learning opportunities but don't cost the earth; literally and figuratively.

For example, many of our toys are made from carefully treated and seasoned rubber wood. This timber is grown on plantations. It's a renewable resource unlike timber from endangered hardwood or rain forest species.

As rubber trees age their latex production declines. Eventually they're taken out of production and harvested. Our suppliers use this timber to make their quality wooden toys.

Apple Park and Organic Farm Buddies use only organically farmed cotton, while the Bigjigs Simply Scandi range of wooden toys uses sustainably sourced, Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certified timber.

Ethical safety

Our products are selected to be as safe and environmentally-friendly as possible. They're also manufactured under the strictest ethical standards; often in ICTI certified factories.

They comply with international safety regulations, including individual piece size requirements. Every product we supply is tested by a reputable international laboratory to AS/NZS 8124, EN71 or ASTM standards.

All products are finished with non-toxic child-safe paints and lacquers. Packaging is kept to a minimum including recycling cardboard boxes used to deliver your order.

Make learning fun

Play paves the way for learning. It encourages children to explore and make sense of the world around them. It also encourages them to express themselves creatively.

Play nourishes every aspect of a child's development. It forms the foundation of the intellectual, social, physical and emotional skills they'll need to succeed at school and in life.

Artiwood seeks to develop the whole child; including heart, hands, and mind. In support of this goal we search the globe for educational products that genuinely promote a child's natural curiosity. Very few suppliers make the cut. Those that do are always worth the effort.

World-class service

Artiwood recently relocated its warehouse into a new state of the art facility in Sydney. We're also upgrading our back office systems and wholesale website over the next 18 months. These investments reflect our commitment to providing the best possible customer service.

Placing your first order

Customers ordering for the first time are asked to confirm their credit-worthiness by making full payment on a proforma invoice before we pick and dispatch an order. Our minimum freight charge

Our freight charges vary depending on your location. We always strive to identify and use the cheapest delivery solution available, particularly for more remote or rural locations. A typical package weighing up to 20kg will incur a typical freight charge of:

Brisbane	$15.00
NSW & ACT	$20.00
Southern QLD & Melbourne	$25.00
Regional VIC & Adelaide	$30.00
Regional SA, TAS & North QLD	$35.00
WA and NT	$37.50

These are estimates only; not guaranteed rates. Delivery to an address outside a metro zone typically costs more than shown here.

Freight charges are calculated based on dimensions and weight. This means that bulky items can incur higher charges, even if they weigh less than 20kg.

Additional fees may apply to orders requiring multiple cartons or pallets for safe delivery; or for an unsuccessful delivery. We pass on any additional charges at the rate we incur them.

Delivery times

We always strive to pack and dispatch your order within two business days, if on account, or upon receipt of payment for a proforma invoice. During busy periods, such as after a trade show or during seasonal retail peaks, extra time may be required to process your order. We confirm dispatch of your order by email. This message includes a tracking reference to monitor its progress online.

Authorised stockists are required to make specific disclosures, maintain prescribed standards and accept ongoing obligations.

Quality wooden toys that encourage active learning through imaginative play

Bigjigs believes in inspiring, stimulating and encouraging a child's development through cognitive play. It offers a growing range of educational products, traditional wooden toys and an extensive wooden rail system that's fully compatible with most other brands.

The Bigjigs story began in Peter Ireland's garden shed in Kent, England in 1985. Peter hand crafted wooden jigsaws which he and wife Liz sold at craft fairs across the UK. Today Bigjigs operates from a large warehouse in Kent and distributes toys worldwide to 93 countries.

Liz and Peter Ireland are both teachers by profession. As a result, a child's development and education lies at the heart of every Bigjigs toy. You'll see this heritage right there on the box. Its packaging includes labels that explain the skills children can learn and develop as they play.

Why wheat fibre?

The wheat fibre in our spades comes from the organic waste of cultivated wheat. It's high in cellulose. This is extracted via natural methods to create an eco-friendly bio-plastic that degrades in landfill. While it's often hard to tell the difference between wheat fibre ABS plastic and normal plastic, you'll notice the wheat fibre in our spades has subtle beige, white and tan flecks.

The Silicone story (and why it's better for the environment)

Silica, or silicon dioxide, is the raw material in silicone. Beach sand is pure silica. The same goes for quartz stone.

Natural silica is converted into pure silicon by heating it to extremely high temperatures. Oxygen, carbon and hydrogen are then added. These elements bond together as polymers to form a final resin for moulding.

Silicone is as strong as metal and more flexible than plastic. However, unlike plastic derived from petrochemicals, its manufacture doesn't hurt the environment or generate toxic waste.

Durable wooden toys for inspiring imaginative and active role play

Tidlo is a classic collection of quality wooden toys. Originally created by John Crane, the Tidlo brand was acquired by Bigjigs Toys in 2018. It now has a new lease of life and a rapidly growing fan base worldwide.

Artiwood distributes its popular construction series, play furniture and doll's house. This includes all manner of objects children encounter in everyday life including microwaves, bulldozers, cranes and trucks.

The Bigjigs story began in Peter Ireland's garden shed in Kent, England in 1985. Peter hand crafted wooden jigsaws which he and wife Liz sold at craft fairs across the UK. Today Bigjigs operates from a large warehouse in Kent and distributes toys worldwide to 93 countries.

When choosing timber for its toys Bigjigs carefully assesses its quality, durability and sustainability. For example, many of its toys are made from plantation-grown rubber wood that would otherwise go to waste.

This philosophy extends to its packaging. Currently more than 80% of the Bigjigs range, including Tidlo, is presented in packaging made from 90% recycled materials that's printed using soy ink.

Planet & people friendly

- Manufactured using responsibly sourced materials including plantation timber
- Tested and certified to ASTM, EN71 and AS/NZS 8124 Standards by SGS (Société Générale de Surveillance)
- Created in factories regularly inspected and evaluated by Bigjig's own executive team
- Paints and lacquers tested and certified as safe for use in toys

Montessori Learning

Built around tried and tested Montessori educational concepts

When children enjoy an activity, HEADU knows it's got it right! For example, early age learners often experience the world through their hands. Therefore, the more tactile a learning experience, the more fully children will engage.

Inspired by this insight, HEADU tests, trials and ultimately integrates Montessori-inspired sensory elements into many of its products. Presented in a sturdy cardboard storage box with handy cord handle.
